

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION ASSESS YOURSELF

1. WHY IS COMMUNICATION IMPORTANT?	1	4. SPEAKING — THE MESSAGE ITSELF	61
Don't take communication skills for granted	2	Speaking to be understood	62
Every day, all day, we are communicating	3	Clarity in your message	63
Why do you need effective communication skills?	4	Structuring your message	64
Communication in an ever-changing workplace	5	Informal conversations	64
What makes a great communicator great?	8	Formal situations	67
Benefits of effective communication	10	In the beginning was the word, and the word was easy to misunderstand (aka Choose your words with care)	70
The five stages in the communication cycle	11	Magic words to use often	74
The dangers of not communicating well	14	Star Tips for planning a well-structured and effective message	75
Star Tips for understanding effective communication	17
2. COMMUNICATION STARTS WITH YOU	19	5. SPEAKING — IT'S NOT JUST WHAT YOU SAY, IT'S ALSO HOW YOU SAY IT!	77
Being likeable helps	20	Vocal clarity	78
Let's start at the very beginning	21	You say potato, I say potahto	78
Authenticity	24	Four steps to increasing vocal clarity	79
The 3 C's of developing likeability	27	Touch up your tone	80
Other ways of developing better relationships	34	Emotional excess	82
The importance of timing	37	Vocal hazards	83
Star Tips for becoming a better communicator	39	Facial clarity	85
		What is your body saying?	87
3. LISTENING	41	Body language bloopers	89
Why listen at all?	42	Do I look communicative in this?	91
Obstacles of effective listening	43	Star Tips for using the right tone and body language	93
Basic differences between a good listener and a bad listener	45
How would you rate your listening skills?	45	6. ASSERTIVENESS AND YOU	95
Four ways of listening	47	What's your type?	96
Listening to open doors	50	Risks and costs of each behavioural type	99
Developing your door-opening skills	54	How assertive are you?	102
Activate your active listening skills	55	Basic behaviour for assertiveness	103
Practice your paraphrasing	56	The 3 F formula	105
Star Tips for effective listening	59		